

Chad Dyslin was born in the Texas Panhandle but spent a majority of his life in sunny California. He left the big city and bright lights to come home and finish his education, graduating with a Masters in Accounting. He also met his wife of now 7 years while in school. He currently works for Happy State Bank as an associate banker within their rural markets. He loves nothing more than to watch his Patriots win or enjoying a day at their ranch with their animals.